THE ISSUE OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The restoration of silver is the great issue of this campaign, which is preliminary to the decisive battle which is to be fought in 1900. Discussing this issue the Denver News makes the following statement, which every farmer, working man and business man in the State of Nevada should read and consider, as it applies to this State as well as to Colorado:

"On the eve of an important political campaign it is a good thing for the voters of Colorado to put aside partisan clamor and the claims of personal ambitions and consider what course is best for themselves, their State and the nation.

"The News makes the flatfooted declaration that the man who supports the administration Republican party, directly or indirectly, is, whether he knows it or not, striking a blow at himself and his interests and the interests of his friends and neighbors. He is committing a wrong against the State and its people greater than could be committed in any other way. He is standing in the way of the most extraordinary prosperity that ever came to any State or any people.

"Colorado can prosper as well under the single gold standard as most other portions of the country. It is the largest producer of gold. When silver was stricken down it saved itself by turning to the development of its gold mines. It shares with all the country the evils of the single standard of money, of the contraction and fall of prices which have placed a burden upon all producers and all forms of active business. It suffers in addition from the closing of many silver mines and the restriction of production in many others; from the cessation of prospecting for and opening of new silver mines. Against this it has placed the development of gold mines and the industries connected with gold mining. But while we may congratulate ourselves upon having turned the stroke of misfortune so well, what thinking man or woman is there who does not know that the restoration of silver to free coinage would bring to this State business prosperity unparalleled anywhere? There are dozens of towns and mining camps in Colorado which depend upon silver mining, and which are in a state of decay. We have created new towns and camps dependent upon gold mining. Those will remain to bless us under free coinage, but we shall also have the great silver industry which built up the State and which may be said to have been the foundation of all business for more than fifteen years.

"The whole world suffers for a restoration of bimetalism, and Colorado necessarily suffers with it. But it is idle to deny that Colorado has an immense and direct selfish interest in free coinage. If we can get it, business in this State will give a tremendous bound, the price of all property will advance with a leap, and tens of thousands of additional men will find employment. We shall still have our gold mines, we shall share with the rest of the country in the benefits of the double standard, and we shall have the positive and immediate benefit of a revival of silver mining.

"Think of the influx of workers, the hum of industry, the output of millions at Leadville, at Aspen, at Creede, in the towns and cities of the San Juan district. In all of the mountains where Nature has laid up her stores of precious metals. Free coinage means an addition of $20,000,000 a year to the mineral output of Colorado. It means at least 10,000 more men at work in the mines. It means railways overcrowded with traffic. It means flourishing mercantile business, the establishment of new houses and the enlargement of old ones. It means an enlarged market for the product of every farm and orchard and stock ranch. It means a sharp demand for real estate in city and country. It means an influx of new population. It means factory chimneys belching out smoke in the effort to cope with crowding orders. It means that the lifeblood of prosperity will course through every artery and vein of the commonwealth. Notwithstanding that great corporations are disposed, as a rule, to ally themselves with the Administration through the blindness of their managers, free coinage means to them enlarged business and dividends, where dividends have long been scanty or unknown. Free coinage will be an instant personal benefit to every man, woman and child in Colorado.

"If the fight for bimetalism were hopeless, we might look upon this picture with longing, but with a sigh of regret at its impossibility of attainment. But the fight for bimetalism, far from being hopeless, is radiant with the likelihood of success. Let us remember that in 1896 less than 40,000 votes properly distributed in three or four States would have placed in the President's chair a man pledged to free coinage and who would have given to it every energy of his mind and every power of his office. Let us remember that three great national parties will enter united in the campaign in 1900, with independent free coinage as their battle cry. Let us remember that the campaign of education which produced 6,500,000 votes for Mr. Bryan in 1896 has continued unabated. In that year free coinage was opposed by thousands upon thousands of well meaning men, who feared it because they did not understand it. They have had opportunity to study and everywhere there are indications that they have improved the opportunity. Great peaceful revolutions by the people do not go backward, and the revolt which made its first attack on the stronghold of the money power in 1896 will sweep up again with irresistible force in 1900.

"Free coinage is going to win, unless its enemies can find many traitors to help them. They should find none in Colorado. The party which is opposed to free coinage should not be able to muster enough partisans in this State to fill its tickets. No matter under what sophistries it may disguise its intentions, it is standing in the way of a political change which would benefit Colorado to the extent of more than $100,000,000 a year. It has cost Colorado more than $500,000,000 in the past five years. If successful it will cost Colorado more than $500,000,000 in the next five years; more than $1,000,000,000 in the next ten years. It is an enemy to the State and the State should crush it. The men who have been struck down by the policy of contraction, the men who are struggling under burdens of debt contracted in former years, the men who are wondering why their property no longer brings the price it would bring years ago, the men who find the market for their labor restricted and the price of their products lowered—all of those have the financial policy of the Republican party to blame. And while this is true everywhere, it is doubly true in Colorado.

"Colorado knows its most deadly enemy. Let it strike and strike home. We are fighting for the right of the masses to enjoy peace, happiness and prosperity. We are fighting for civilization. And a fight of that kind is not won by throwing roses."

A CARD FROM MR. LEETE.

Tramp Politics.

To the people of the State of Nevada, delegates in nominating conventions and candidates for the Senate and Assembly:— This morning a letter appears in the DAILY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL, recommending the election of Wm. M. Stewart to the Senate of the United States, addressed to Reinhold Sadler, Governor of Nevada, purporting to have been written by Stephen M. White of Los Angeles, California. Also previous letters of like character have appeared in the same and other papers in the State, purporting to have been written respectively by prominent citizens of Illinois, Colorado and Pennsylvania.

It is now asserted that the text of those letters was prepared in Carson City and given out for publication. Assuming that those letters originated from the persons over whose signatures they appear, I submit that the whole scheme is an insult to the Statehood of the State of Nevada and to the intelligence and American manhood of every inhabitant of the State. It appears that Mr. Stewart is better known in other States than he is in this State.

The personnel of the Senate of the United States is based on Statehood representation, to consist of two members respectively, inhabitants of the individual States they represent.

If the insult goes unchallenged that the inhabitants of the State of Nevada do not possess the needed intelligence and patriotism to enable them to select a Senator of the United States in pursuance of the fundamental doctrines of the constitution of the United States from the bona fide inhabitants, then for a like reason should they select a State ticket from the inhabitants of other States, for example, a Governor from Rhode Island, Lieutenant Governor from Michigan, Justice of the Supreme Court from Maine, Secretary of State from Minnesota, State Treasurer from Oregon, Surveyor General from Illinois, Superintendent of Public Instruction from Alabama, Board of Regents of University of Nevada from South Carolina, five District Judges from Ohio, State Central Committee from Indiana.

To elect representatives, State and National, from the inhabitants of a State is a function of Statehood.

If the State of Nevada is incapable of selecting such representatives from her bona fide inhabitants, then that fact raises very seriously the question, is Nevada a State?

If you wish to know about me ask my neighbors.

Your obedient servant,
B. F. LEETE.

The Elko Independent reports that K. M. Williams late clerk at the Duck Valley Indian Agency attempted to swindle Wm. "ers and Anderson, White Rock merchants, out of $100. OFFICIAL REPORT.
Two Men Seriously Wounded—The Out-let in Jail.

About 3 o'clock yesterday morning a cutting affray occurred in a downtown saloon in which two men were seriously wounded. A man named John McMurtrie, who had apparently been imbibing too much fighting whisky got on the war-path and armed with a knife started in to cut and slash promiscuously. He struck one man named William Biedleman on the left wrist severing an artery and several tendons and another named Jack Seymour on the left arm severing several arteries and the muscles. Drs. W. A. and P. T. Phillips were called to attend the wounded men. They found the men bleeding profusely and went to work to stop the flow of blood. The medical men tied the arteries and sewed up the wounds. Biedleman was taken to the Clarendon, where he is being nursed by his brother, one of the volunteers, who arrived from Carson a day or two ago. The other man was taken to the hospital where he is being treated.

The man who did the cutting was arrested by Officer Nash and taken to jail. He gave the name of John McMurtrie and he seems to be a stranger in Reno. So far as known he had no motive in cutting the men and the supposition is that he did so simply and solely because he was full of whisky and wanted to slash some person or thing with a knife which he had in his possession.

State Fair—Third Day.

There was an increase in the attendance at the track yesterday and for the next three days there will doubtless be a large audience each day.

The first race called was trotting and pacing free for all, mile and repeat. Peo, Hobo, Doc Button, Outbald, Lott, G. Hera and Mamie F. were the entries. Peo and Lott G. sold even in the pools at $2 against the field at $2. Betting was rather slack and the boys concluded to wait the result of the first heat to see how the chances would be for a winning. Peo led and took first place in the heat, Outbald second, Button third. Time 2:26.

The field now sold for favorite at $5, Peo and Lott selling even at $2. More interest was manifest on this heat and the shortenders scooped the bakery by Peo taking the heat and race and first money, Outbald, second and Mamie F. third. Time 2:26.

The next event was running six furlongs, with Fannie E. Diaboleta, Mafada, Gossip, Mamie Fox and Silver maid at the scratch. Betting was lively Fannie being choice at $5, Mafada bringing $3 and the field $2.

Some delay in starting occurred but they finally got off Fannie in the lead but Mafada soon lapped her and the race was neck and neck for some distance when Fannie pulled away winning easily in 1:17 1/2. Mafada second, Gossip third. Then followed a mile and a quarter running race, five hurdles, free for all. Archie A, Balarie, Centenella and Diaboleta were the string. Pool selling was light as the outcome of the race seemed a settled matter. Diaboleta won in 2:25, Centenella second, Balarie third.

Bicycle Events at the Track To-day.

The bicycle races will commence this morning at 9:30. There will be four championship races, a one mile handicap, an Indian race and a boys, under eighteen, race.

The championship races will be from one-quarter of a mile to five miles. Every race is well filled with entries and the one mile handicap will have twelve contestants. Five will start in the Indian race. Some of the best bike riders in the State as well as Susanville, California, will participate and the races will be for blood.

On Friday morning at 9:30 the great 25-mile relay between Reno and Susanville teams will start. This promises to be one of the most exciting events of the week and it is expected that all previous time records on the track will be broken.

A Novel Campaign Idea.

W. P. Harrington of Gold Hill and H. P. Remington are canvassing the candidates for the purpose of getting up a candidates chart for 1898. It is a new novelty and is copyrighted. A half tone bust picture of each candidate, together with his name and the name of the office to which he aspires are given and the charts are sent all over the State. This gives the voter an opportunity to judge of the appearance of the candidate, if unacquainted with him and it also, in a measure, saves the candidate the necessity of visiting many of the smaller places when time or other conditions might prevent. The expense is comparatively small.

At the Theater.

Another jammed house greeted the Shaw Company at the Opera House last evening. "In Misouri" was presented and the audience was delighted.

No matter what the attractions about town may be Sam T. Shaw and his company always draw. The popular prices of 10, 20 and 30 cents affords an opportunity for people in ordinary circumstances to witness a standard play presented in a manner by people thoroughly up to their business.

The band concert each day at 11 o'clock is an attraction of itself and the superb orchestra music at each performance is a treat seldom enjoyed in the mountain towns.

The Battle of Manila.

Two carloads of scenery, also twenty-six men, comprising the construction crew for the production of the Battle of Manila, arrived from the west last evening. Work will be commenced to-day putting up the necessary frame work for the exhibition. It is a realistic and startling representation of Dewey's great battle, the American and Spanish fleets being in full action, and the details of the sea battle are so true and lifelike as to arouse the greatest of patriotic enthusiasm. It will surely be the grandest firework spectacular production ever seen by the majority of the residents of Reno and vicinity and is worth travelling miles to see. The shells fired during the battle are 28-inch and they burst a half mile in the air producing the most brilliant effects imaginable. Besides these there are many pieces that serve to add to the grandeur of the display. Dewey's picture, 30 feet square, is one of the features.

The company carry their own fireworks manufacturers and the pieces are made right on the ground, so that they are fresh and never fail.

The management has arranged to have the University Cadets take part and this will add greatly to the local interest in the production. The Association will make arrangements for conveyances and there will be plenty of them to carry the sight seers. Special officers will be in attendance to prevent confusion or accidents and the most timid need have no fear to visit the exhibition.

Reserved seats will be on sale this afternoon at the Model Cigar Store and no one should miss this great historical display. General admission 50 cents. Admission including reserved seats $1.

A Clever Trick.

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can take it who has lame back and weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. It cures constipation, head ache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who is not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness and all diseases of the throat chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on S. J. Hodgkinson Drugist, and get a trial bottle. Regular size 50 cent and $1. General Assembly will take place at the University to-day at 11 o'clock. Senator Stewart will give an address on some subject of national interest. Everybody invited.

A Military Trick.

One of our German-American citizens related the following incident of the German revolution of 1848:

"We were short of men and had a large number of prisoners to look after. That did not worry us as long as we were not moving, but one day we had to make a forced march. The country through which we were to pass was hostile, and extreme watchfulness was necessary. We had few enough men as it was, and we knew that those prisoners were ready to make a dead run at the first opening.

"Finally a young officer made a brilliant suggestion, and it was promptly carried out. We ripped the suspender buttons from the prisoners' trousers, took away their belts and knew we had them. Their hands were busy after that, and fast running was out of the question. We made the march safely, and I do not believe that even Yankee ingenuity could have invented a simpler solution."—New York Tribune.

A Useful Mule.

"Ner in th' buggy or waggins?"

"Nope; wants ter graze too much."

"What you keepin him for, then?"

"Waal, you see, we ain't got no clock at our house, an that ole mowl brays at dinner time jest ez shore ez the youth towns over Yassar. I've been called to dinner by that mowl's bray for the last five years an I'm affix right clum or time."—Atlanta Journal.

SPANISH GRANDEES.

FAMILY PEDIGREES THAT RUN BACK TEN CENTURIES.

The National Vanity Borders on the Absurdly Grotesque, and Playing the Gentleman Has Been Called "the Endemic Disease of Spain."

It is related that a young guard, having neglected to pay the usual salute to a Spanish duke at the court of Madrid, excused himself by saying that he did not know the offended nobleman's rank. "My friend," replied his grace, "the safe rule is to assume that everybody in the palace who looks like a monkey is a grandee of the first class."

The truth is the Spanish are a thoroughly mongrel race, and their conceit of themselves amazes us. Their country has probably been oftener overrun and conquered than any other territory of equal extent in Europe. Phoenician, Carthaginian, Roman, Vandal, Visigoth and Moor have all successfully made it their stamping ground, and the effect of all this upon the pure Castilian blood, whatever that may be, is indelibly stamped on every really Spanish face.

But playing the gentleman has been called "the endemic disease of Spain," and the national vanity is something grotesque. One of their historians seriously advanced the theory that the first inhabitants of the country "arrived by air," so impressed was he by their superhuman qualities that nothing short of a descent from the sky could account for them. A subsequent historian, however, after a long and grave discussion of the question, finally announced his opinion that "they more probably came by land."

After this we need not be astonished that the Spanish claim to possess the oldest families in Europe. The surprising circumstance is that the claim is not wholly without foundation. Their family names can in some cases be traced back to an incredibly remote period, though it must not be assumed that the original blood persists in any purity.

Probably the most ancient family in Spain is the house of Pacheco, whose estates are not far from Carleia, now called Cartaya, in Andalusia. Plutarch tells us that when Crassus fled from Italy he concealed himself for eight months at Ximena, near Carleia, in caves belonging to a Spanish gentleman named Pacheco. Cicero also mentions this generous Spaniard, and there can be no doubt that he was one of the ancestors of the Pacheco family, whose name is obviously derived from him and who still own the caves. This carried them back about 2,000 years, to a period antedating the Christian era, but it is possible to trace the line much further. The name is clearly of Phoenician origin, being ultimately derived from "patacol," the word by which the Tyrians designated the carved figurehead of their galleys.

The identification is made more complete by the fact that the Phoenicians were the founders of Carleia, as of Cadiz in the same province. That adds another 1,000 years or so to the Pacheco pedigree. Think of it—a landed estate remaining in the possession of the same family for 3,000 years! This is doubtless the most wonderful family tree in the world and unusually well authenticated. The Pachecos may well be pardoned for taking pride in it, though it roots in rather unsavory soil at last, for the great original Pacheco was evidently a Tyrian freebooter.

Names that trace back to the Carthaginian occupation in the time of Hannibal are also found, and the title of Hannibal's own clan, Barca, is perpetuated by the Barcias and Garcias, well known families of Andalusia. There are also several names of Roman antecedents, as Ponce and Cane, in Latin Pontius and Canus. A Spanish gentleman bearing the latter name was a personal friend of the poet Martial, all of which seems to bring antiquity very near—in Spain. The fact of the matter is she has never emerged from antiquity.

The Spanish, however, are inclined to look back to the Goths as "the purest fountain of nobility." This certainly seems a strange perversion of sentiment, for of all the barbarians that came down from the north to lay waste Roman civilization with fire and sword the Goths, with their cousins, the Vandals, were the most irredeemably villainous.

And these Goths were no extraordinary heroes either, even in war. With supine and braggart incompetency they lost to the Moors in the eight months' campaign a supremacy which it cost eight centuries of conflict to regain. Yet "Gothic of Spain" is the pet phrase. To a rank outsider it would seem that the Basque families have the most honorable lineage, and their pedigrees run back to time immemorial, though not easily traceable. The Basques represent the original population of the Spanish peninsula. Their seat is the mountains of the northern district, and in many ways remind us of the Welsh. They have the same simplicity of life, and the same really justifiable pride of birth, for their blood is the purest in Spain, if that counts for anything. Like the Welsh also, they have to a considerable extent maintained their ancient language, one of the strangest which survive upon the earth, bearing no resemblance to any other in Europe.

These Basque families, for the most part, bear names which appear to be geographical in their origin, as Ugarte, meaning "between waters." Zubia, "the bridge." Ibarra, "the valley"—a style which reminds us of our American Indians, although it is found more or less all over the world. The termination "ez," so common in Spanish names, is Basque, and signifies "son," as Perez, son of Peter, exactly like our own Peterson. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Hawaiian Alphabet.
There are but 13 letters in the Hawaiian alphabet. These, with their pronunciations, are: A (ah), e (e), o (o as in ho), u (oo), h (hay), k (kay), l (la), m (moo), n (noo), p (pay), and w (way). The missionaries added a thirteenth, i, but the natives won't have it, and continue to pronounce, for instance, the name of the root from which poi is made "kara," although the missionaries have it "tara." Every vowel in a word is distinctly sounded, except that the vowels "ai" are sounded "i," as in English. Walkiki, the beach in Honolulu, is properly pronounced "Vil-kee-kee." There is a great difference in the speech of the high and low caste natives. The first call their island group "Ha-va-ee-ee," and the latter begin it all right with "Ha," but conclude with a guttural grunt, and the word heard most, "Aloha," sounds soft and beautiful on the lips of the first, but is a lazy, good natured grunt as the latter speak it.

Aloha is in their limited vocabulary at once a greeting and farewell, a formal expression of regard and of deep love. In the latter case it is increased by warmth and depth of meaning by modifying adjectives annexed instead of prefixed, as "Aloha nui," "Aloha nui loa," or even "Aloha nui loa loa!"—and then it is time to speak to papa. —New York Herald.

How She Won Over the Judge.
A woman resident of Detroit relates an interesting tale of Kansas justice years ago. It was after her wedding trip that her husband was called to Kansas on business and a real estate dealer, out of spite, had him arrested. The prisoner was taken before a local justice of the peace. The incensed bride insisted upon attending the trial, and while it was in progress she so far forgot herself as to deliberately level her opera glasses upon the justice, who dashed under the table and shouted:

"Deputy, disarm that woman!"
The officer scoured the glasses and cautiously laid them before the magistrate, who promptly fined the woman $1,000 for contempt of court. With gracious dignity she asked the right to defend herself, and, going up to the bench, she explained that the glasses were not harmful, and had the justice look through them, and after a few pretty words of apology she presented them to him. He hit the table a mighty blow to reconvene court, and fined the prosecuting witness $25 "for insulting a visitin lady and gent in contrary to law and eteket." —New York Tribune.

Blunders In Songs and Programmes.
I suppose all composers have had a laugh over the extraordinary mistakes which sometimes occur in the first proofs of their songs. I remember, years ago, writing a very sentimental love song in which the line occurred:

I've never once regretted the vow I made that day.
My feelings may be imagined when I found they had printed

I've never once regretted the row I made that day.
And once the following amusing mistake occurred in the programme of one of my own concerts. A well known singer and very good friend of mine was down to sing my two songs, "To Mary" and "Crabbed Age and Youth." But the newspaper announced something very different. Not content with drawing up a programme of my concert, it drew up a programme of my future, for I read as follows:

Mr. Blank
To Marry
Maude Valerie White
Crabbed Age and Youth.
—Cornhill Magazine.

Remenyi Found a "Gaynoose."
The late Edouard Remenyi appears to have been the "discoverer" of Johannes Brahms, who was a boy of 19 when the Hungarian violinist found him in Hamburg in 1858. They went on a concert tour, so the story goes, and fetched up at Weimar almost penniless. Liszt invited Remenyi to stay at the Altenburg.

"I have plenty of room for you," he said. "You have perhaps a servant with you?"

"Oh, no! I have a gaynoose" (genius) "A what?"

"Master, I have here with me the greatest composer since Beethoven, and I have come to solicit your protection for him."

"Very well. Bring along your gaynoose, and we will see

Liszt saw, and after him others also found their vision cleared

Half-Way.
Miss Greener—And so you were in the train that was held up by robbers? Wasn't you just frightened to death?
Miss Whiting—You'll hardly believe it, but I wasn't frightened a bit. The fact is, when they came into the car and ordered us to hold up our hands, I thought it was going to be a lecture on palmistry, and I didn't find out different until it was all over. —Boston Transcript.

Frenchman Fond of Bread.
European nations vary very greatly in their consumption of bread. The greatest flour eater in the world is the Frenchman, who consumes nearly two pounds a day, or 705 pounds a year. This enormous quantity, compared with the seeming meagerness of 55 pounds a year eaten by the Scandinavian, marks the influence of climatic conditions on food. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An English paper tells of a clergyman who had two curates, with the older of whom he was at sword's point. On being appointed to another living he decided to take with him the younger curate, whom he liked, and when he came to preach his farewell sermon he chose as his text, "Abide ye here with the sea, and I and the lad will go yonder and worship."
